

Bob Jervis visited Acton Bridge on the River Weaver on the 6th & 7th October, where he took these pictures.

Below is the same scene from the opposite direction

Bob followed the fleet leaving on the Sunday afternoon and found them gathering in Saltersford Lock.

You can have fun working out which is which!

It is a pity that these large locks on the River Weaver are no longer used commercially.
